

fruitbond

From Magic research & development activity comes the second generation of Fruitbond products, an eco-sustainable food pad containing an ecological absorbing core.

Designed for a better preservation of fruits

Fruitbond guarantees the absorption of liquids and condensation released by the fruits, also serving as a mechanical protection for the packaged tray and allowing a better preservation of the fruit.

Hot-drilling technology together with hot-bonding process allows the pad to absorb more liquid and more quickly and give the product unique technical properties in its industry.
